Many Truck Drivers Leave Cabs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of truck drivers walked out in spreading Teamsters strikes over deadlocked wage talks today after their national contract expired, and the Nixon administration pleaded with them to handle essential cargoes.

"It's spreading like wildfire," said Teamsters Business Agent Charles Moore in Cleveland, one of half a dozen or more major cities hit by strikes in the dispute involving a total of 425,000 drivers across the country.

But the Teamsters issued no official strike call and most drivers stayed on the job in many major cities including New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz awaited word on his request to truckers to continue handling defense foods and perishables.

Negotiations, which were recessed Tuesday night, were to resume at 2 p.m. on the wage dispute.

Both the Teamsters and Trucking Employers Inc., representing most of the nation's trucking industry, remained officially silent about the growing rash of strikes.

Trucking Employers Inc. in a similar situation in the last national confrontation three years ago called a nationwide lockout shutting down virtually the entire industry in retaliation to scattered strikes.

An industry source, asked if a decision on a lockout this time has been made, said "not yet."

Strike action was scattered with local union officials estimating some 10,000 on strike at St. Louis, about 3,000 in St. Paul, Minn., more than 2,000 in Cleveland and about 1,000 in Denver.

Other cities where Teamsters walked out included Kansas City, San Francisco and Oakland, Calif., Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio; Indianapolis, Ind.; and Des Moines, Iowa.

Negotiations were deadlocked with the industry and the Teamsters 80 cents an hour apart for a three-year wage agreement.

The industry offered 90 cents and the Teamsters demanded $1.70. Most truck drivers now average $4 an hour.

Early indications had pointed to efforts by some Teamsters officials to head off work stoppages, but some local union officers said they did not consider the walkouts wildcat strikes since the drivers no longer have a contract.

In Chicago, where separate talks were being conducted, union officials said the 50,000 Teamsters in that area would not strike this morning.

"We may get this thing solved very shortly," said a Chicago Teamsters leader.

Although national Teamsters headquarters had issued no official strike call, sources indicated the walkouts had the silent blessing of top union officials as a tactic to bring the stalled wage negotiations to a head.

To make matters worse some professional tax consultants are gloating over this unhappy fact in their advertising, since it will send millions more citizens to their offices with a fee in hand.

Of course you can deduct the consultant's fee from next year's return—but I am one of those rugged rebels who believe if you are compelled to hire someone to interpret what the government is telling its people about taxes then it's time you forgot the consultant and resolved to do something about government.

All my life I compiled my own income tax returns—until the year I bought Mrs. C.E. Palmer's Star Publishing Co. stock, when the long-range outlook compelled me to resort to a CPA's return. But unless you hear to the contrary I am preparing the 1969 return personally.

Looking back over more than 40 years of tax returns preparation I still think most individuals should be compelled to make their own file. It would give them a deserved lesson in the kind of government they have been voting for.

Company returns are something else, of course, because of complicated depreciation schedules, and because a CPA report adds to the credibility of a company's financial statement.

Our column has been missing for several days, but the paradox of a small-town newspaper is this: While you might think the absence of the column meant the editor was either out of town or simply loafing, the very absence of his daily piece proved he was busy with things more important to the newspaper.

Particularly at this time. For the first 90 days of the year are a period of frustrating "paper work," grief and mourning for most Americans who have a business to manage.

Here's an idea of what management has to do the first three months of every year:

Complete all company tabulations, and government reports, for the year that has ended.

Look up and explain items for the annual company audit by certified, public accountant.

Do the same for the field auditor of the Audit Bureau of Circulations who comes down from Chicago to audit the preceding year's paid circulation.

File the company's federal and state income tax returns before March 15.

Prepare and file a 3-months circulation statement for the Audit Bureau of Circulations as of March 31—all of the foregoing having been accomplished.

The final bit of "paper work" remaining is to prepare and file your personal income tax returns, due April 15—and for a veteran battler of "paper work" I assure you this is a relative cinch.

I got up my schedules last week and am going to take a look at the 1969 tax form tonight—about which I hear some terrible things. Taxpayers screamed during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations because the Fancy Dan guys in the Internal Revenue Service were always changing the tax return form so that your carbon copies of the year before were of little help in preparing the current return. Now I hear the same screams against the Nixon administration.

To make matters worse some professional tax consultants are gloating over this unhappy fact in their advertising, since it will send millions more citizens to their offices with a fee in hand.

Tornado Watch Issued for This Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau has issued a tornado watch for a large part of eastern and southern Arkansas.

The bureau said the threat of tornadoes would exist from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m. today. Also included in the watch were a portion of western Tennessee, northern Mississippi, a portion of northern Louisiana, a small portion of the Missouri Bootheel and a small portion of Southeast Oklahoma.

The bureau also said there was a chance of scattered severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds.

The greatest threat of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms is in an area along and 70 miles either side of a line from Texarkana to Jackson, Tenn.

Arkansas counties included in the watch are Craighead, Greene, Independence, Jackson, Mississippi, Poinsett, White, Polk, Yell, Conway, Faulkner, Garland, Grant, Hot Spring, Perry, Pulaski, Saline, Arkansas, Crittenden, Cross, Lee, Lonoke, Monroe, Phillips, Prairie, St. Francis, Woodruff, Hempstead, Howard, Lafayette, Little River, Miller, Montgomery, Pike, Sevier, Bradley, Calhoun, Clark, Cleveland, Columbia, Dallas, Nevada, Ouachita, Union, Ashley, Chicot, Desha, Drew, Jefferson and Lincoln.

25 of 82 Survive Air Crash

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — A Moroccan twin-jet Caravelle crashed within two miles of the Nouasseur Airport while coming in for a landing today. Airline officials said 25 of the 82 persons aboard survived the crash and a fire which roared through the front part of the plane.

The Royal Air Maroc flight from Agadir, an Atlantic resort in southern Morocco, to Paris, with a stop at Casablanca, carried 76 passengers and a crew of six. Among the passengers were 26 tourists returning from a stay at the Club Mediterranee vacation colony at Agadir.

Debris was scattered over an area of nearly a mile. The wings were found 350 yards apart. The tail of the plane was 300 yards from the main part of the fuselage.

Most of the survivors were believed to have been sitting in the tail section which was spared from fire after the craft tore apart under the impact.

Abdeslam Ben Hammou, governor of Agadir Province, was one of the survivors. Two cabin stewards were reported to have escaped.

The control tower at Nouasseur Airport—a former U.S. Air Force Base which is now Casablanca's principal landing field—said that the last message from the pilot was that everything was normal and that he was making his approach.

Ribicoff Joins South on School Bill

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., joining Southern senators in their effort to send a $24.6-billion aid-to-education bill back to a conference committee, said today "We must begin to pursue a policy of true integration in the North as well as the South."

"A child in the third grade who goes to an all-black or all-white school—whether in Mississippi or New York City—has not the slightest idea that there is a difference between de jure and de facto segregation," Ribicoff told his colleagues.

"If segregation is bad in Alabama, it's bad in Connecticut. It is time to see integrated, quality education as a national goal—not simply as a penalty imposed on the South for losing the Civil War."

Ribicoff said the compromise bill should be returned to Senate-House conferees with instructions to reverse their decision to water down an amendment which was sponsored by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

Ribicoff was a strong supporter of the Stennis amendment when it was adopted. He accused the North of "monumental hypocrisy" on the desegregation issue in his earlier speech on the rider.

State Highway Bids Total $6.1 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Commission will open bids April 22 on five construction projects worth an estimated $6.1 million.

The two largest projects are for concrete paving of two segments of Interstate 40 between Fort Smith and Little Rock.

7 The jobs, by county:

ASHLEY—Drainage structures and three concrete slab span bridges in about 1.5 miles of Arkansas 52 eastward from just east of Crossett.

MILLER—Concrete paving of 1.6 miles of Arkansas 245 from the proposed U.S. 67 interchange northward to the Loop Route interchange on Interstate 30 northeast of Texarkana.

CRAWFORD and FRANKLIN—Concrete paving of 10.2 miles of Interstate 40 from the Mulberry River Bridges east of the Arkansas 215 interchange eastward, including the Arkansas 23 interchange north of Ozark.

FRANKLIN—Concrete paving of 1—MILES OF Interstate 40 from near the Arkansas 23 interchange eastward to the Johnson County line.

PRAIRIE—Bituminous surfacing of 4.4 miles of Arkansas 33 from north of Plunketts northward.

Seeking Sigs Protesting Treatment

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chairman of the Arkansas chapter of Concern for Prisoners of War Inc. says the organization hopes to obtain the signatures of 100,000 Arkansans on petitions protesting North Vietnam's treatment of American prisoners of war.

The petitions, asking for a halt to "cruel and inhumane" treatment of prisoners, and seeking the release of the names of POWs, will be sent to the North Vietnamese officials at the Paris peace talks and in Hanoi, says Mrs. Peter Hornbrook of Little Rock, who started the Arkansas chapter in February.

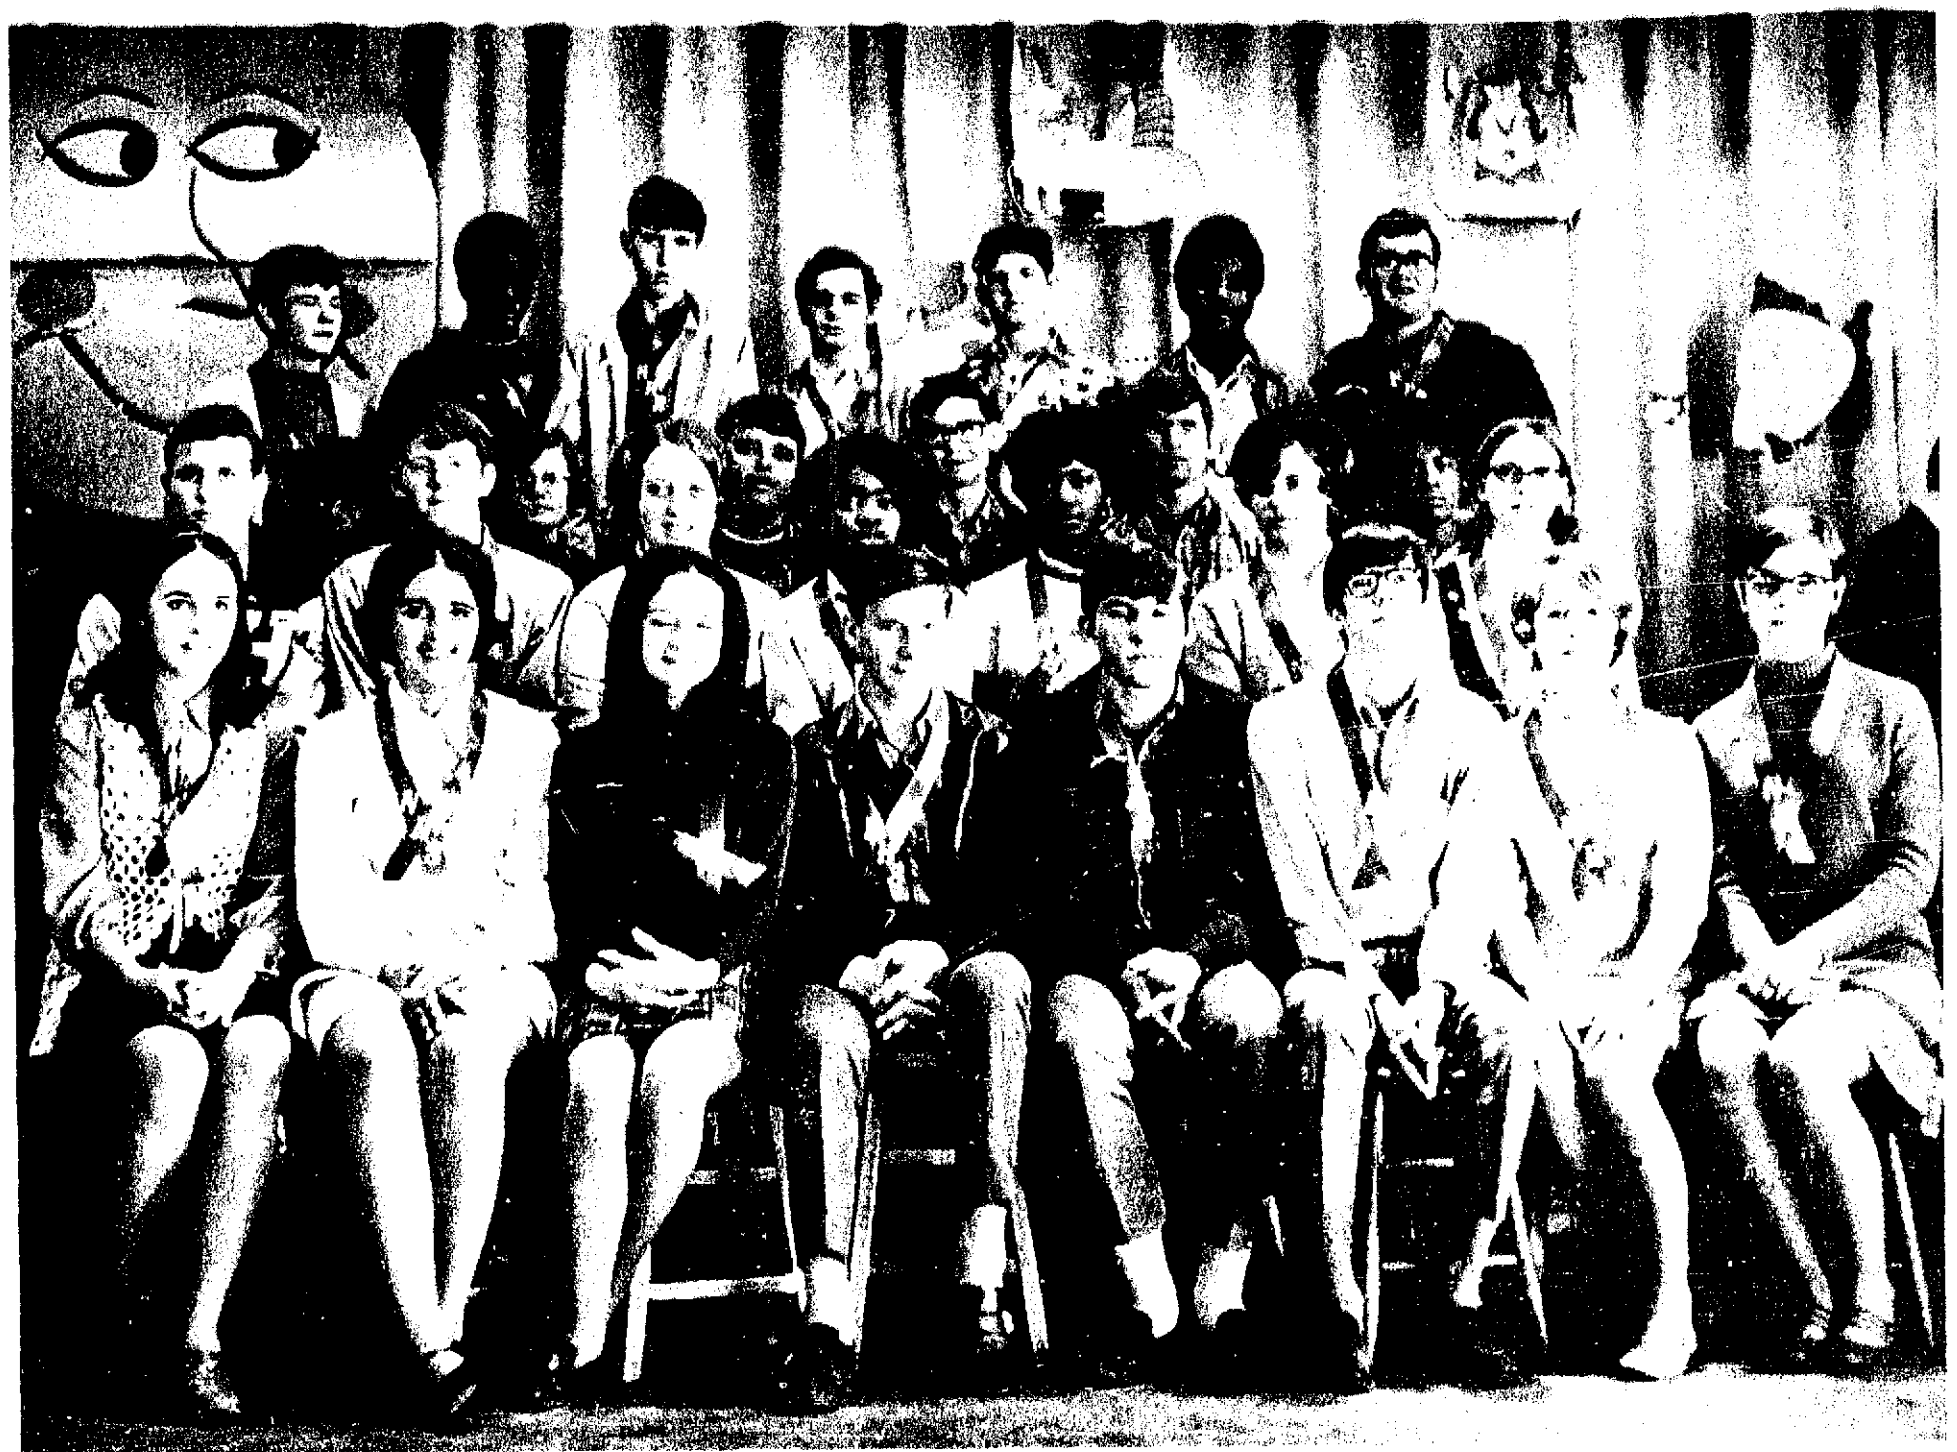

Mrs. Hornbrook said the petition drive would begin after the chapter completes a 60-to-90-day public campaign explaining what she said was Hanoi's refusal to comply with the Geneva Convention on the treatment of prisoners.

Mrs. Hornbrook said the Arkansas chapter was not concerned with whether or not the war itself was just.

"We're not arguing the politics of the war," she said. "Our only concern is to secure better treatment for the Arkansas and American servicemen who are caught in this desperate situation."

Mrs. Hornbrook, daughter of the late state Sen. Ellis M. Fagan, estimates that at least 15 Arkansas servicemen are prisoners of war and that dozens more are listed as missing in action.

Terrorists in France Seize Hostages

By GUY RIFFET
Associated Press Writer

VILLEGRANCHE — SURMER, France (AP) — Four gunmen wearing red sweaters, their leader a mental hospital escapee, seized four tourists as hostages today and shot one in a day-long siege at a Riviera hotel.

The gunmen hurled a grenade, fired a burst at a policeman and shot down an elderly West German tourist, Mrs. Hans Tische, with a volley of machine-gun bullets. The woman, wounded when she tried to flee, was in serious condition in a hospital.

"Give us a car in front of the door and don't follow us," the men in Room 100 of the luxurious Versailles Hotel told the police at midday. "Let us have the time to make 100 kilometers"—about 60 miles—"in the direction of Italy and we'll let the hostages go."

But the demand was turned down by Rene Mathieu, the police chief. He also said no to an offer by the bandits to free the hostages if Mathieu would ride away with them in a car.

Held by bandits were Mrs. Tische's 73-year-old husband and a middle-aged couple from Paris.

The siege began at 6 a.m. when police, called to the hotel by employees who noticed a weapon in the baggage of four male guests, began to make door-to-door checks. A burst of pistol fire answered the police search.

The gunmen tried to leave the hotel by sliding down knotted bed sheets but gave up, and crawled along a balcony that led to other rooms. One of the gunmen clutched a valise believed to contain loot from a holdup.

Then, the gunmen moved the four persons into a single room. Mrs. Tische was shot when she tried to escape. Later the gang's leader, Maurice Sorini, 25, who fled from Timone Psychiatric Hospital in Marseille six weeks ago, agreed to allow a doctor to evacuate her.

During the morning vans full of black uniformed riot police surrounded the three-story hotel and sealed off access to it. At the same time Mathieu began negotiating with Sorini, but the conversations got nowhere. The police agreed only to allow a bell boy to carry two packs of cigarettes to the gunmen on a silver platter.

Mathieu is an old adversary of Sorini whom he arrested last year. Sorini has been charged with eight holdups. His conversations with Sorini were by telephone.

"Be reasonable," Mathieu said on the phone. "You think you're a Chicago gangster but you're not. Don't be a fool."

Bailey said his statement Tuesday did not mark a shift in his position.

"I have never been in support of a strike," Bailey said, "but have hoped a dialogue could be started and the situation not polarized." Asked what the absences had accomplished, he responded: "Nothing constructive so far, except making people aware of the controllers' situation."

The controllers have complained they are undermanned and overworked to the point of fatigue and their equipment is outmoded and inadequate.

The National Association of Air Traffic Specialists, a rival union, asked President Nixon to appoint a fact-finding panel of outside mediators.

The FAA has started sending 30-day notices of dismissal to absent controllers, giving them five days to submit doctors' certificates if they really were ill.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, asked on the Dick Cavett ABC television network show Tuesday night if the PATCO statement would prevent punitive measures, said "as far as the leaders are concerned, we'll have to take it on a man by man basis."

The FAA said 495 of the 1,739 controllers scheduled to work at the 21 air control centers Tuesday reported sick.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

FUNNY KIND OF LOVE

Dear Helen: My fiancée says she wants to marry me as soon as we can afford it and his divorce is final. But I found out he is seeing our boss's wife. He says she chased him until he gave in, but he doesn't care about her. Says it's easier for him to wait for me if there's someone on the side. (I'm the "old fashioned" type.)

I can't stand the thought of him with this woman, so I wrote a letter to our boss telling him about the affair. Then I remembered what you said once about sitting on a hot letter for a week before you mailed it. Should I send it? The boss is a pretty high-flying bird himself.

Dear T to T: If you tell this high-flying boss he's a duck-bird, you'll get two people fired: Your "FORMER" fiancée, and yourself. An informer is usually no more popular than her victim.

I'd guess a broken engagement might save you much misery later on—but let the boss make his own discoveries.—H.

Dear Helen: I pushed the most wonderful man in the world right out of my life. He was a kind and considerate as any man could be—and I've known plenty.

I accepted his love and his gifts in my usual thankless manner. Looking back, I see myself as a shrew. I insisted he change his ways, his work, his life to suit me.

Then I met Paul, a romantic friend of the past. He had since become a successful businessman and I could see myself surrounded with a large home, cars, pool, all the luxuries. I "turned on" my dreams and myself accordingly.

So I closed the door on "Mr. Wonderful." Called him a few vile names for good measure. His gifts, letters, and phone calls were annoying. Finally I slammed the receiver down twice when he called, and I haven't heard from him since.

A bit later, Paul and I hit some snags. He criticized me and my little boy, and became overbearing. I told him we were through.

On Valentine Day I took inventory. I had no cards, no candy, no roses. The best I could do was a few dances at a local tavern with the usual propositions.

Well, I had my say, and I won all the battles. And I'm so lonely I could die. How can I tell Mr. Wonderful I want to cry at his feet for forgiveness? I love and need him—LONELY WINNER

Dear Winner: Try eating crow, but it may only give you heartburn. When a man finally sees a woman clearly, he seldom believes she can become the idol he once THOUGHT he saw.—H.

Dear Helen: I read with interest the story about the woman who was supposed to have been bitten by a snake which

The talk at the club was about expensive errors and the oldest member gained the floor.

He started out with: "All your stories leave me cold. I once lost 3,340 points by a slam double and my double was a good one, although I must admit that, if I had my life to live over again, I wouldn't make it."

He then diagrammed the hand and continued, "My double sure looked safe. They couldn't run to another suit. It never occurred to me that they could make seven no-trump. So when South ran there, I doubled."

I wasn't even worried about my partner's failure to lead a spade, but declarer took just a few seconds to prove that my thinking had been muddy. He entered his hand with the king of diamonds, discarded all dummy's spades on his clubs and made the last tricks with the high red cards."

The second oldest member took time out to disagree with the count of a 3,340-point loss. He asked, "How did you arrive at that figure?"

"Easy," replied the old man. "It was back in 1934. I would have been plus-100 had I passed. Instead, I lost 2,250 for the slam bonus, 500 for the rubber. We were both vulnerable, 440 below the line and 50 for making a doubled contract. It would not have been that expensive a couple of years later, since the grand-slam bonus was

Brooks Asks Merchants for Help

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rev. Cato Brooks, one of the leaders of marches by striking employees of the Little Rock Municipal Water Works, said Tuesday that Little Rock merchants will be asked to form a committee to aid the strikers.

About 50 strikers and their supporters marched through downtown Little Rock Tuesday and went inside three stores seeking support. No incident was reported.

Two parades were scheduled for today, one this morning and another this afternoon.

Brooks said the marchers would go from store-to-store today, asking the merchants to form a committee to influence Jack H. Wilson, manager-engineer of the waterworks, and the members of the Waterworks Commission.

The marchers walked on sidewalks Tuesday because they had no parade permit. They followed the same procedure Monday, but did not enter any stores.

Sixty-seven strikers and their supporters were arrested Saturday and charged with failure to obey a policeman when they tried to march on Main Street instead of proceeding down Broadway, as their parade permit specified.

The Waterworks Chapter of Local 994, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFL-CIO) has been on strike against the water works since Feb. 18.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Eating Out Is Growing Trend

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

Tablecloth restaurants, those with waiters, linen and excellent kitchens, report a drop in business of from 5 to 10 per cent. But in places where a family of four can eat for around $5, business has increased up to 30 per cent. These facts are based on nationwide interviews.

One East Coast manager says, "Men who used to eat in our fairly expensive restaurant four times a week, now eat here only twice. But they go to our lunch counter in the building at least twice a week. Something they never did before. That's the way business is switching today."

At least once a month, more than 100 million Americans have dinner in a restaurant.

are working people. In the evening, however, teen-agers and students, especially at informal places, are important. Later in the evening, couples predominate. Family groups with children between 6 and 12 years are important. Women have become large customers. At least a third work outside the home; many women past 40 are returning to jobs. They swell the hordes of eaters-out. Eating places that cater to the under-35 group are growing faster than the over-all food service industry.

Chain operations are becoming more popular. Customers associate the food and service they like with the name of the eating spot. So, when moving about the country, they look for the same name or the same architectural features.

"Also, chains have the necessary staff and resources to do research and marketing studies. They know when and where to open new places, new drive-ins in the suburbs particularly designed to please the tastes and pocketbooks of the youthful," says Miss Taylor, an agricultural specialist in this field.

"They have preparation and service down to a science. Everything is designed to satisfy those who want quick, informal and inexpensive service in familiar atmosphere," she adds.

So long as the cost of food outside the home does not go up faster than the family's income, however, many students of the industry believe that within a few years more than half the food we eat will be served in moderate-priced restaurants, drive-ins, lunch counters and other places where one can enjoy a quick or even leisurely meal.

Pirates and Yanks Keep Rolling

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball establishment is taking great pains to put its troubled house in order before next week's season openers, but spring cleaning has been a pleasure trip for the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Yankees.

While two off-the-field dilemmas—the Denny McLain case and the Seattle Pilots caper—nearly resolved Tuesday, the Pirates and Yanks continued to roll up scores in exhibition play.

Pittsburgh bombed the world champion New York Mets 12-3 for its seventh straight victory and the Yankees brought their spring record to 15-7, best in the majors, with an eight-run ninth inning volley that flattened Minnesota 9-2.

In New York, meanwhile, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn scheduled a noon, EST, press conference at which he will announce the fate of McLain, the Detroit pitching ace who has been under indefinite suspension since Feb. 19 for involvement in 1967 bookmaking activities.

In Seattle, a federal bankruptcy referee cleared the way for the transfer of the financially-crippled Pilots to Milwaukee. Formal announcement of the sale of the American League club, to be renamed the Brewers, was expected today.

Back in New York, a federal judge set May 18 as trial date for Curt Flood's suit challenging the reserve clause and Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, recommended a 30-day extension in contract negotiations with major league club owners.

The Pirates stung the Mets with a 15-hit assault including homers by Roberto Clemente, Richie Hebner and Jerry May. Rookie John Ellis doubled to launch the Yankees' ninth inning explosion and climaxed the rally with a three-run homer.

Philadelphia withstood a five-run St. Louis burst in the fifth and edged the Cardinals 12-11. Ex-Cards Byron Browne and Tim McCarver paced the Phillies with four RBI and three hits, respectively.

Oakland snapped a seven-game losing streak by thumping the Chicago Cubs 13-7 as Sal Bando cracked a bases-loaded homer. A two-run homer by rookie Elliott Maddox helped Detroit whip Boston 8-4.

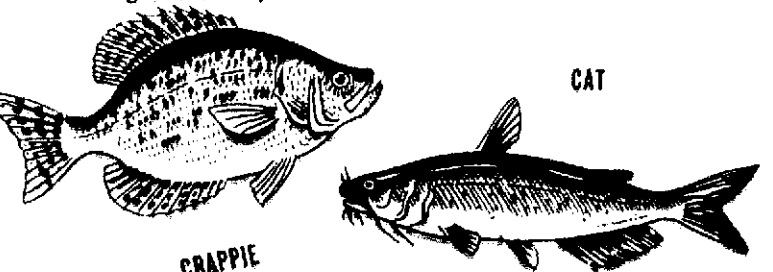

San Diego trimmed Cleveland 6-1 on the three-hit pitching of Mike Corkins and Dave Roberts; Montreal nipped Kansas City 2-1; the Chicago White Sox shaded Washington 6-5; California topped the Pilots 4-2 and Baltimore downed Houston 5-2 in a night game at the Astrodome.

Atlanta slipped past its Richmond farm club 1-0 in 11 innings and Cincinnati beat its Indianapolis affiliate 4-2.

San Francisco, back home from a Japanese exhibition tour, cut nine players, including slugger Jim Ray Hart, who was sent to Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League. Minnesota made 11 squad cuts and asked waivers on veteran Bob Allison.

Other cutdown casualties included pitchers Dick Hughes and Jerry Johnson and outfielder Lee Thomas of St. Louis, pitcher Gary Neibauer of Atlanta, outfielder Joe Lahoud of Boston and pitcher Sammy Ellis of Cleveland.

Pitcher Rudy May, apparently upset over his demotion to No. 4 man in California's starting rotation, jumped the club in Tempe, Ariz., and returned to his Los Angeles home.

Pilots Are Milwaukee Brewers Now

By CHARLIE BAROUGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE AP — The Seattle Pilots became the Milwaukee Brewers Tuesday night when a federal bankruptcy referee approved the sale of the financially dying American League baseball team for $10.8 million.

The only formality left was referee Sidney C. Volinn's signature on the order today. Attorney Elwin Zarwell, the Brewers' representative, said Volinn's spoken decision Tuesday night was as good as his written approval.

The contract already had been signed and approved by the league, leaving the Brewers free to go about their baseball business.

Volinn approved the sale after saying the Pilots obviously couldn't pay $8.13 million in debts and didn't have the cash to survive a second season in Seattle. That paved the way for the expansion team to open the 1970 season next Tuesday in Milwaukee against the California Angels.

But the death of the Pilots also opened the way for a two-fronted attack on baseball's exemption from federal antitrust laws. William L. Dwyer, special assistant state attorney general, said Seattle and the state of Washington would press their $82 million antitrust damage suit which already had been filed in state court and was awaiting removal of the team.

That suit contends that the league violated the state's antitrust laws by excluding competitors from the baseball business and restraining trade in various areas. As a result of the alleged antitrust violations the state, city and their citizens and businesses will suffer economic injury, the suit argues.

Washington's two powerful Democratic senators—Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson—have said they will introduce legislation taking away baseball's antitrust immunity as soon as Congress reconvenes next week.

There was no doubt that the club couldn't meet its debts as they came due and soon would be insolvent, Volinn said. With the baseball season only a week away, the Pilots were in an emergency situation, he added.

The only other solution was to force the American League to carry the team and with it deficit financing amounting to over $5 million during the next three years.

Volinn said it would be unfair to make the league bear that kind of financial burden with the team's only hope of profit, King County's $40 million domed stadium, itself in a legal bind.

The State Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the site selection for the stadium should go on a May ballot pending a court test.

In New York, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said "no comment" to the entire Seattle-Milwaukee situation.

Volinn cleaned up the last traces of the Pilots by appointing a receiver to take charge after the sale while the reorganization was going on. He also ordered that any distribution of funds from the sale of the Pilots be made only on the order of his court.

Chances of a review of Volinn's decision appeared slim since Washington would have to put up a bond of at least $20 million.

Max Soriano, the Pilots' minority shareholder and secretary-treasurer, said he was relieved to be out of the financial and legal entanglements, but regretted Seattle's loss.

"I hope the stadium is built so someone else, and I emphasize here, can have the opportunity to bring major league baseball back to the Pacific Northwest."

Marvin Milkes, who'll retain his job as general manager, said he too was sorry to leave Seattle after five years. Then he paused for a second and added: "You know, I've never been to Milwaukee."

said coach Frank Broyles. Broyles said the enthusiasm was high, but that was expected.

"On the first day, you'd be disappointed if it wasn't," he said. "We hope it keeps up. It's the only way to improve."

The Razorbacks will work out each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday through May 2 with a game-type scrimmage every Saturday. Arkansas opens the 1970 season Sept. 12 against Stanford University at Little Rock.

New Porker Cage Coach Is Elated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lanny Van Eman, the man hired away from the University of Iowa to lift sagging basketball fortunes at the University of Arkansas, said Tuesday that he did not believe the emphasis on football at Arkansas would be a detriment to the basketball program.

"I have in my mind that football is here to stay," Van Eman told a news conference. "I think football can do more for me than basketball can do for football. I see a pretty wholesome situation at Arkansas and see some things that are designed to tie the athletic department together rather than keep it apart."

Van Eman was asked if athletic department officials had given him any assurances of the necessary support for basketball.

"I have had no assurances," Van Eman said. "I'm just sure of the fact that the vehicle they gave me to work with is good enough to get us back to a respectable level."

Van Eman said his immediate goal is respectability in the Southwest Conference and ultimately a berth in the NCAA tournament.

He said quickness and aggressiveness are the first things he looks for in a basketball player.

"In my thinking, the best five defensive players will start for us at Arkansas," he said. "I want to find the best basketball players I can find."

Bullets Gun Down Knicks Again

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Bullets gunned down the Knicks again with Earl "The Pearl" pulling the trigger while the Hawks had a Hazzard for the Bulls.

That was the story Tuesday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs. Baltimore beat New York 102-92 to even their Eastern Division best-of-7 semifinals 2-2 and Atlanta, winning its 10th straight, took a commanding 3-0 lead over Chicago with a 106-101 victory with Walt Hazzard scoring 32 points for the Hawks.

Atlanta's Hawks, already described by Coach Dick Motta of the Bulls "as the best team in basketball," can win the series Friday night in Chicago and get some rest while waiting on Phoenix and Los Angeles, tied 1-1, to complete their playoffs for the other Western Division championship berth.

The Knicks were the only team in the NBA to win four straight in the 1969 playoffs. New York, in the semifinals a year ago, knocked off Baltimore, which had won the Eastern Division championship, and the Bullets are just now starting to recover from the setback.

Milwaukee's Bucks, with super rookie Lew Alcindor, play at Philadelphia in tonight's only NBA playoff game. The Bucks have a 2-1 lead in the Eastern Division series. Phoenix and Los Angeles resume their playoffs Thursday in Arizona.

"We're somewhat dented but undaunted," said Walt Frazier of the Knicks after New York's second straight loss to the Bullets.

And Willis Reed, the New York captain and the league's Most Valuable Player, said of the series: "We're starting all over. Now it's a best-of-3."

Earl Monroe's clutch shooting in the waning minutes kept the Knicks from overhauling Baltimore and denying the Bullets the chance to win two straight from New York for the first time since the 1968-69 season. Monroe wound up with 34 points and has now scored 107 in the four playoff games.

"Monroe is as good an offensive player as there is in the game," chortled Bullets' coach Gene Shue. "No one can stop him. He can be controlled some but he cannot be stopped."

Frazier was high for the Knicks with 25 points while Reed contributed 20.

The Hawks almost didn't get their 10th straight victory—they'd won the last seven in regular season play. Off to an early 14-point cushion, they trailed 73-63 late in the third quarter after Chicago had rallied behind Shaler Hallmon to take a 54-51 halftime lead.

Hazzard and Hudson got hot for the Hawks early in the fourth quarter. Atlanta pulled into a tie and finally went ahead 93-91 on Hazzard's field goal. Hudson scored 30 points for Atlanta to go with Hazzard's 32. High for the Bulls was Hallmon with 22.

Rockets Are Rising But Stars Slip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Denver's Rockets are rising while Los Angeles' Stars are slipping in the hot Western Division race of the American Basketball Association.

The Rockets increased their lead over the Stars Tuesday night. The loss put the stars 5 1/2 games back and just a half-game ahead of last place New Orleans, also idle.

New Orleans, with eight games to go, still has a mathematical chance of winning the title but a much better opportunity of making the playoffs. Denver, however, is home for its final seven games.

Spencer Haywood, playing like a man who really appreciates that $1.9 million contract he recently got, paced Denver with 41 points and 17 rebounds. George Stone was high for the Stars with 26 points.

In other ABA games, Dallas, exploding for 50 points in the final quarter, beat Indiana, the Eastern Division champ, while Kentucky downed Pittsburgh 117-114. Ron Boone led the Dallas scoring with 26 points while Bob Netolicky got 21 for Indiana. High for Kentucky was Jim Ligon with 34 while Pittsburgh rookie John Brisker tallied 43 in a losing effort.

Prescott, Amity Post Victories

In the Independent basketball tournament at Spring Hill last night Amity beat out Montys 99 to 56 with Wheeler tossing in 19 for the winners and Woodising 17. For Montys boys Walker was high with 15 and Turner had 11.

Prescott really poured it on the Texarkana Razorbacks 111 to 85. Fairchild made 26 and Paris 24 for Prescott. Graves was high with 36 and Copeland 16 for Texarkana.

Wednesday night, starting at 7 o'clock, the Spring Hill Bears take on Perry's and at 8:30 p.m. Nashville goes against Amity.

Anti-Trust Suit Is Sure in Baseball

By PAUL WELLS
Associated Press Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — Organized baseball's long immunity from antitrust laws came under attack today in state court, and was threatened with a federal-level assault in Congress next week.

The two-pronged offensive was launched as the result of the Seattle Pilots' sale to Milwaukee for $10.8 million.

A federal bankruptcy referee approved the sale Tuesday night after ruling that the Seattle club could not pay its $8.13 million in debts and did not have money to operate in Seattle this season.

The team is due to open play in Milwaukee as the Milwaukee Brewers next Tuesday.

The sale means Washington state and Seattle will go ahead with an $82 million antitrust suit filed in King County Superior Court March 16 against the American League and its individual club owners. The county is expected to join the case later.

State Atty. Gen. Slade Gorton had said in a letter to the league that "the suit would differ substantially from nearly all past and present cases" because it dealt "with conduct alleged to be predatory."

William L. Dwyer of Seattle, named by Gorton as his special assistant to handle the case, commented: "We think we have a very strong case. We're hot to go."

Dwyer said that although an antitrust conviction in state court would be binding only in Washington state "it could, and probably would, undermine baseball's antitrust protection in every other state and probably could affect its status under federal antitrust laws."

While the state was attacking under its own antitrust laws, Washington's two Democratic senators, Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, readied a bill to wipe out baseball's protection from federal antitrust provisions.

Jackson said the measure probably would be introduced next week "and we've been assured of a hearing by the Senate Judiciary Committee."

Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., who represents the Seattle area, plans to file similar legislation in the house.

Jackson conceded the bill might face hard going in Congress, but said its chances were good because baseball had changed so radically since it gained antitrust immunity as a sport—rather than a business—under a 1922 U.S. Supreme Court decision.

Since then, the high court has refused to review that position. Magnuson said he and Jackson hoped to "save other communities the agony and type of treatment pressed upon Seattle by the American League."

McLain Is Suspended Until July

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Denny McLain, award-winning pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, was suspended through July 1 by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn today.

The commissioner cited the reason as McLain's "becoming the victim of a confidence scheme" involving Flint, Mich., gamblers.

The announcement was made by the commissioner at a noon press conference in a midtown hotel.

In a two-page statement, Kuhn said:

"In January 1967, McLain played an engagement at a bar in Flint, Mich., and there became acquainted with certain gamblers said to be involved in bookmaking operations."

"McLain at that time commenced placing baseball bets with this operation and subsequently he was persuaded to make financial contributions totaling approximately $5,700."

McLain has been working out with his brother, Tim, at his Lakeland home across town from where the Detroit Tigers have their spring training camp.

The 31-game winner in 1968, insists he will be able to pitch on opening day in Washington Monday if he is allowed to.

McLain was the sparkplug who led Detroit to the American League title and the World Series Championship in 1968.

Kuhn suspended McLain in February, a day after McLain voluntarily appeared before a federal grand jury in Detroit that is investigating organized crime and gambling.

Federal attorneys declined to say what the testimony concerned. However, U.S. District Attorney James Brickley said Tuesday the matter still was under investigation.

When Kuhn announced the suspension in February, he said it was based "substantially on certain admissions made candidly to me by Mr. McLain."

Kuhn added the decision was "not on allegations in a recent magazine article, many of which I believe will prove to be unfounded."

McLain, who also has kept tight-lipped about the case, said however, the major printed allegations against him were untrue.

McLain's latest financial troubles came March 18, when the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) seized his furniture and belongings in his Beverly Hills, Mich., home for payment of $9,460 in back income tax.

A court attempt to collect $2,450 allegedly owed in back rent for the Beverly Hills home was dropped recently, when the home was sub let. A McLain friend, Tom Weyland, said he was trying to work out a settlement with the landlord.

The pitcher has had myriad other financial troubles, concerning his business enterprises, which at one time included a paint firm in suburban Detroit.

"I extended myself on business deals and used some bad judgments," McLain has said in describing his financial problems.

Also in late February, McLain told reporters that "I'm in financial trouble. What am I going to do for money? I've got a family to take care of."

"Contrary to belief, 99 per cent of my problems stem from business. I made a lot of lousy investments," he said.

Murray Named Sportswriter of the Year

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP) — The National Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association has named Jim Murray, columnist of the Los Angeles Times, as sportswriter of the year for the fourth straight time.

Curt Gowdy of the National Broadcasting Co. was chosen as sportscaster of year at the association's annual meeting Tuesday.

New York State has a total area of 49,576 square miles.

Curt Flood's Suit Slated for Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — The trial of Curt Flood's suit challenging major league baseball's reserve clause was set Tuesday by a federal judge for May 18.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Irving Ben Cooper set the trial date after a two-hour conference with attorneys for Flood and the baseball leagues.

Flood brought suit against organized baseball after being traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Philadelphia Phillies in a multi-player deal which included Richie Allen. Flood refused to report to Philadelphia.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Case of the Outstretched Arm

Bookkeeper Jenkins, arriving at his place of employment one winter morning, reached out for the knob on the front door. Unfortunately, the sidewalk on which he was standing was slick with ice. His foot slipped and down he went, suffering painful injuries.

Could he collect workmen's compensation? Was this an "on-the-job" accident? Jenkins argued that it was, because his outstretched arm had been across the property line, over the company's property, at the moment he slipped.

However, the court denied his claim, noting that his feet had still been on the public sidewalk. The judge pointed out that it was his foot, not his arm, that did the slipping.

This case, although a close one, illustrates a common principle of almost all workmen's compensation laws. An employee is generally covered only while he is on the company's premises. Off the premises, he is on his own.

Nevertheless, there are important exceptions. A workman may be covered off the premises too, if he is still somewhat under the company's "sphere of influence."

Thus, an employee who was hit by a car while on his way to lunch was held entitled to compensation, when it appeared that his lunch hour was paid for by the company. Under these circumstances, the court found him to be sufficiently "on the job" to be protected.

By the same token, in another sidewalk case, the victim did collect compensation because of two extra factors in the situation. First, the sidewalk was used almost exclusively by company employees. Second, the company was supposed to keep it free of ice.

These factors, said the court, brought the sidewalk area within the scope of the job, justifying protection for workmen who were

CALENDAR OF EVENTS
The Anna P. Strong Federated Club will hold its regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Katie Harris Friday night April 3, 1970 at 7:30 p. m.

COMING AND GOING

Mr. and Mrs. Chester McFadden, Jackie and Belinda McFadden and Felicia Charmaine Bragg have returned home after spending the Easter holiday with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McFadden.

Mrs. Jessie Bell Campbell has returned to her home in Chicago Illinois after visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hamilton and other relatives.

PERSONAL MENTION

Friends of Frank Flenory will be happy to know that he has been discharged from the hospital and is recuperating at home.

Police Stand By During Evictions

CHICAGO (AP) — With furniture strewn over the snowy lawns and 100 policemen standing by, bricks and stones flew as deputy sheriffs evicted 12 families for not making monthly payments on their homes.

The deputies were in the midst of the eviction Tuesday when members of a crowd of more than 300 began throwing things at the police guard.

Reinforcements were called in and 25 persons were arrested. Two policemen were injured, neither seriously.

Most of those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct and assault. Police said one pointed a revolver and was charged with aggravated assault and unlawful use of a weapon.

A crowd attempted to overturn a police car, but its driver sped away without difficulty.

As vans hauled the family possessions away, Arthur Williams, a steel worker and one of the persons evicted, asked: "Where to now? Maybe back to the ghetto."

"It isn't right. Still, there's no sense in violence," he said.

The 12 families are members of the Contract Buyers League, which has been withholding monthly payments on home purchases because, they maintain in a suit seeking to upset the contracts, the agreements are unfair.

The families contend that the sellers overcharged them for the property and took advantage of their inability to understand contract language.

In contract buying, the seller retains title to the property until the full amount of the purchase price is paid.

An attorney for the sellers said his clients had a waiting list of new buyers ready to move into the small frame houses in a Negro neighborhood.

There's a classical music disc discount shop in town—they're offering everything 20 per cent off.

On a program arranged by Kiwanian Bill Butler, Don Thompson, Regional Director of Southern Mississippi Flyway District for Ducks Unlimited, Inc., was the guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of Hope Kiwanis Club.

Ducks Unlimited is an organization of sportsmen and conservationists vitally interested in providing and maintaining better breeding grounds for water fowl, thus providing more ducks for all areas of the United States.

Most of the work of Ducks Unlimited is done in Canada. If one should wonder why sportsmen at the local level should support work in Canada, the answer is quite simple. Eighty percent of the waterfowl are produced in Canada, flying from there to warmer climates in season. Ducks Unlimited at the present time, has two million acres of breeding grounds under its control and hope to have as much as six and one half million acres by 1980. Mr. Thompson illustrated his talk with a film, showing some of the work being done by Ducks Unlimited, an organization supported by membership fees and by contributions. It is not a tax supported program.

A chapter of Ducks Unlimited has been organized in Hope. Its membership is open to anyone interested in conserving our water fowl. Bill Butler or Yancy Reynolds are anxious to discuss the organization and its program with any who are interested.

Hardy Spence of Shreveport was a guest of Tom Ed Hays, Jr., and Key Clubbers, Don Williams and Gary Don Jones, were guests of the club at Tuesday's meeting.

Four Protest the Playing of Dixie

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Four unidentified University of Arkansas students Tuesday contested the legality of a student election on the question of playing "Dixie" at school functions.

The students filed a protest, alleging that a small group of students, mostly blacks, sat within 50 feet of a polling place holding placards denouncing "Dixie." The protest alleges that the students violated the school's election code by campaigning within 50 feet of a polling place.

The results of the election will not be released until the student court rules on the protest. The student court is expected to consider the complaint Thursday.

Negro students contend they are offended by the playing of "Dixie."

Congress Has to Act on Water Deal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said Tuesday that congressional action would be required to permit the Mid Arkansas Water Distribution District to pipe water from the Greers Ferry Reservoir to cities south of the reservoir.

Mills also told about 35 officials and supporters of the distribution district that the plan will not be approved unless it has the support of the Army Engineers. An Army Engineers study of the project has not been made public, but the study is expected to arrive at Little Rock in a few days.

COURT DECISION

to face his accusers. And but for a single, vague sentence in Justice Hugo L. Black's opinion for the majority, only Justice William O. Douglas recognized that a trial judge may be shouting to assert his constitutional rights.

William Allen, who is now sitting in a New Orleans jail awaiting trial for robbery, was a most unruly defendant in Cook County criminal court 14 years ago. The judge, Grover Niemeyer, was a very patient man.

Allen, whose defense to a $200 tavern holdup was insanity, interrupted the examination of prospective jurors, tore up his file, ignored the judge's warnings that he should behave and finally told Niemeyer: "When I go out for lunchtime, you're going to be a corpse."

The judge ordered Allen removed, the trial proceeded without him and the defendant was convicted and sentenced to 10 to 30 years in prison.

Last July, the U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago invalidated the conviction, saying Allen's constitutional right to face his accusers had been violated. If necessary, the appeals court said, Judge Niemeyer should have bound and gagged Allen.

This suggestion later was used by Judge Julius J. Hoffman in Chicago to bind and gag Bobby G. Seal, one of eight radicals charged with inciting riots at the 1968 Democratic convention.

The net result of the Supreme Court's ruling is that all the judges evidently did the right thing.

If a defendant ignores the judge's admonition that he should behave and makes further proceedings impossible, he can be forcibly removed. If the judge decides the best way to deal with a rebellious defendant is to bind and gag him—that's all right, too.

And of course, Black's decision noted, trial judges may use their old standby contempt powers to cite a stubbornly defiant defendant and throw him in jail.

The heart of Black's opinion, in which technically all justices except Douglas joined, is this observation:

"It would degrade our country and our judicial system to permit our courts to be bullied, insulted and humiliated and their orderly progress thwarted and obstructed by defendants brought before them charged with crimes."

The only notice Black took of the fact judges sometimes provoke the outbursts by short-ending defendants on their rights was the observation that "being manned by humans, the courts are not perfect and are bound to make some errors."

Brennan's concurring opinion sought to soothe liberals' sensibilities by counseling that the guarantees of liberty, justice and equality "cannot endure if we allow our precious heritage of ordered liberty to be ripped apart amid the sound and fury of our time."

Significantly, though, even Brennan, a recognized liberal, coupled liberty with order.

Only Douglas, in a separate opinion, stressed that "problems of political indictments and of political judge raise profound questions going to the heart of the social compact."

Douglas asked: "Would we tolerate removal of a defendant from the courtroom during a trial because he was insisting on his constitutional rights, albeit vociferously, no matter how obnoxious his philosophy might have been to the bench that tried him?"

"Would we uphold contempt

in that situation?"

Douglas agreed with his colleagues that a criminal trial cannot exist in bedlam. But he said Allen evidently was mentally ill and a ruling on the sensitive issues of courtroom order should have been put off to another day.

Only Brennan, and he by indication, noted there may be ways to observe both a need for decorum and the right granted by the 6th Amendment to defendants to face their accusers.

Allen's own appeals lawyer, H. Reed Harris of Chicago, said both needs could be met by placing the unruly defendant in a soundproof booth in the courtroom or televising the trial to him outside.

Brennan did not suggest either method directly. But he advised trial judges to "make reasonable efforts to enable him (the excluded defendant) to communicate with his attorney and, if possible, to keep apprised of the progress of his trial."

"Once the court has removed the contumacious defendant," Brennan said, "it is not weakness to mitigate the disadvantages of his expulsion as far as technologically possible in the circumstances."

Partee's Horse Heads Field at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — W. C. Partee's Mr. Bird Dog heads a field of 10 older horses entered in today's $8,500 feature race at Oaklawn Park.

Mr. Bird Dog, fourth in the 1969 Arkansas Derby, has won two races at the current Oaklawn meeting.

Mr. Bird Dog has been assigned 114 pounds for the one mile and 70-yard test.

Tenor, owned by L. H. Grimes of Little Rock, is top-weighted at 122 pounds.

Others in the field are Zuko's Bad Boy (117), Times Movin' (119), How-Tum (116), Nashua Pilot (110), Missouri Gent (119), Champagne Kid (113), First Front (114) and Sailors Song (116).

Apprentice Steve Richie piloted Wonder Holme to a 1 1/2 length victory over fast-closing Cornada in Tuesday's $6,500 feature race at Oaklawn.

Wonder Holme, owned by J. A. Petty and G. P. Bane, covered the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5 and returned $25.0, $9.00 and $5.00.

Wednesday, April 1, 1970

Cornada paid $3.80 and $3.00 and Better 'n Ever, the show horse, returned $3.60.

The Arkansas Futurity, with an added purse of more than $14,000, went to J. D. Askew's Deer Play. The 2-year-old gelding, making his first start ever, was ridden by J. L. Lively.

Deer Play covered the four furlongs in 47 2-5 and returned $19.60, $8.60 and $6.60. Jets Champ paid $5.20 and $4.20 and El Carlo, the show horse, returned $7.00.

Jockey Danny Whited rode three winners Tuesday, scoring on Skeel's Choice in the second, Mr. Colleen in the seventh and Astra Nova in the ninth.

Kodiak Joe, winner of the first race, and Skeel's Choice combined for a $840.80 daily double.

Oldest Fraternity
Oldest Greek letter college fraternity in the United States is Phi Beta Kappa, founded at the College of William and Mary on Dec. 5, 1776 — just five months after the signing of the Declaration of Independence — by five students who wanted to perpetuate the gentlemen's code of honor and scholarship.
